

AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Independent grocers are selling at from 15 to 25 per cent. lower than the trust on staples and keeping down the prices of groceries in general.

Boxes of apples that are sold by the trust for 90 cents and more are sold for 75 cents by the independent grocers, who still make a fair profit.

Eggs are sold by the trust grocers at 40 cents a dozen for the best and the same grade is sold by the independent grocers for 30 cents a dozen. Butter is sold with the same fair division of the profits by the grocers outside of the trust.—Spokane Press.

"Rest Room" for Country Folks.

So much interest has been aroused over the publication of the article in the Herald relative to a "Rest Home" that this paper has taken considerable pains to find out how the home at Eugene is conducted. The plan followed in that city was to rent a comfortably furnished cottage and turn it over to a lady to manage. She received her rent free in consideration of looking after the comforts of her guests.

There is absolutely no charge made to out-of-town people. When they come in to do their trading they make the home their headquarters, enjoying all the facilities that are provided. The expense for house rent is borne pro rata by the merchants. This plan might be adopted by Baker its merchants, provided, of course, that a house could be found convenient to the business center of

Afraid of Halloween Pranks.

The residents of several districts of the city who had experience last year in the destruction of their property Halloween night by young vandals who ought to have known better and who guised their excessive pranks under the name of fun, have taken steps to have special watchmen deputized as police officers and will be ready to protect their property from depredation. Willowvale has a special policeman already designated and is prepared for business.—Baker City Democrat.
